Struggle To Save Airmen

Rescue Parties
Try to Reach SAAF
Fliers Who May Have Reached Safety

COOS BAY, Ore., Nov. 28 — (AP) — Five men — one dangling from his parachute 150 feet high in a tree — who parachuted from a crashing army plane Monday were reported alive today.

The state police reported that four survivors had straggled in last night and this morning into Dimmick logging camp, a telephone-less settlement about 30 miles northeast of here.

Exhausted from nights in the pounding rain and miles of hiking through rugged mountain country, the fliers told loggers that 12 men had been in the wrecked plane.

Information, filtering slowly through to state police from the wild, communication-barren terrain, indicated that these men were accounted for:

Flight Officer Ralph Foster.
Flight Officer Waddell.
A man identified only as Hartsook.

A major, name unknown.

Flight Officer Dave Reed.
Reed was dangling from a tree, his parachute entangled in the limbs — but still conscious after nearly two days. Loggers went to the forest site where he was trapped and began working with block and tackle to release him. The extent of his injuries was not known.

The other four men walked into the logging camp, and loggers, trudging 11 miles to the nearest telephone, advised state police.

Notified of Crash

The first notice of the plane — at first thought to have crashed at sea — was brought last night by Hartsook and the unidentified major, who walked into Dimmick logging camp.

Loggers immediately set out for the logging camp, and loggers, trudging 11 miles to the nearest telephone, advised state police.

A rescue party — deputy sheriff, state policemen and Coos bay physician — immediately set out for the scene. They reached the logging camp this morning, after being taken across the swollen Coos river in an army tug.

Another rescue party of coast guardsmen headed toward the rugged mountain area — one of the most inaccessible regions of Oregon — today.

Eleventh to Bail Out

The major, whose name was not known, was quoted by loggers as saying he was the eleventh man to bail out of the plane. Shortly afterwards the plane exploded in the air. It was not known whether Capt. Hugh B. McMullen, Kansas City, Kas., the pilot, and the last man to leave the ship, was able to parachute down.

The entire passenger list of the plane was not known, since apparently it carried passengers in addition to the five crewmen who left the base at Sedalia, Mo.

Survivors said all the men — except possibly the pilot — had bailed safely out of the plane. But it was not known whether they landed safely. Survivors said the plane carried two enlisted men and 10 officers.

The plane, on a routine flight from Sedalia to McChord field, Tacoma, had stopped at Oakland, Calif., and possibly picked up passengers there.

Unable to land at McChord on Monday because of weather, it was ordered to Pendleton, Ore., and went astray. The last radio report came from a point 16 to 18 miles out in the Pacific ocean off the southern Oregon coast.

The plane is one that left Sedalia Army Air Field last week-end. Members of the crew, when it left Sedalia, were: Captain Hugh B. McMullen, Kansas City, Kas.; Capt. Harlow A. Marsh, Jr., Syracuse, N. Y.; 1st Lieut. Vincent V. Hannah, Big Timber, Mont.; Pfc. Walter A. Smoyer, Bethlehem, Pa.; Sgt. Robert T. W. Neal, Los Angeles. Their next of kin have been notified.

Halsey Promoted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — President Truman today nominated Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., for promotion to the five-star rank of admiral of the fleet. Halsey recently relinquished command of the Third fleet. He said that at the time he intended to retire.

Select Teams To Represent Smith-Cotton

Debaters Will Take Part in State Conference

Six rounds of debate were held at Smith-Cotton high school Tuesday for the purpose of selecting two teams to represent Sedalia in a two-day Forensics conference at The University of Missouri December 7 and 8. All teams were praised by the judges, whose decisions were as follows:

Affirmative teams—First place, Jean Handley and Sam Highleyman; second place, Mary Frances Borne and Dudley Luckett; third place, Jean Hulse and Marilyn Morris.

Negative teams—First place, Almeda Albertson and Joe Potts; second place, Anita Isgur and Ruth Ann Yunker; third place, Mary Sue Monsees and G. B. Thompson.

Remaining teams were:

Affirmative — Jean and Jack Gregory; Stanley Rackin and Eddie Rogers; Mary Alyce Hoffman and Fred Lyons.

Negative — Buddy Klink and Frank Urban; Gordon Leiter and Leroy VanDyke.

Post-War Conference

The Forensics conference, which was not held during the war years, will be open to high schools generally throughout the state, but only members of the Missouri High School Debating League will be privileged to take part in the practice debates scheduled for Friday, December 7.

A banquet at the Tiger hotel at 6 p. m. Tuesday, over which R. L. Davidson, Jr., debate director, will preside, will include "Greetings" by Elmer Ellis, vice president in charge of extra-divisional educational activities of the university, and a speech on "New Developments in Radio" by Henry Lee Ewbank, professor of speech, chairman, University of Wisconsin Radio committee, University of Wisconsin.

Parade in Down Town District

A navy train, and the Hermann Goering automobile will both be in Sedalia Thursday afternoon and evening, in the interest of the Pettis County War Bond Drive.

Both will be of particular interest, because of their historic value, and the public is invited to visit and inspect both. There is no charge. The train will be near the Missouri Pacific station, the Goering car just across the tracks from the station, north of Main street, on Osage avenue.

The navy train will be on display from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. The car from 5:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. There will be a parade in the downtown district starting at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Jacob E. Smith President FWL

It is not generally known that Sedalia numbers among its citizens the national president of a nation-wide organization. It is Jacob E. Smith, 202 South Prospect avenue, probate judge, who heads the Fraternity of the Wooden Leg, an organization founded in 1940 as a non-profit and benevolent organization, dedicated to the purpose of restoration of morale and re-building of ambition in the field of amputative cases; and for the purpose of constructive counsel to the members of the fraternity and to those who will — by accident, illness or military or naval services — join them during the years to come.

Judge Smith lost both legs, one above the knee, one just below

Grandma Wrote Her Congressman, Then Robert Wrote

TOKYO, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Grandma wrote her congressman. The congressman wrote the commanding officer. The commanding officer called in Robert and his sergeant and read grandma's letter, which said:

"Is anything wrong with Robert? Please tell me why he hasn't written and if anything has happened to him."

Robert, whose full name the army didn't announce, now is writing to grandma regularly.

Major Luckett Here on Leave

Major Luther J. Luckett, 319 West Sixth street, has arrived home and is on terminal leave until February 20, 1946.

Major Luckett, who was also a veteran of World War I, has been in service four and one-half years with 19 months in the European theatre. He was awarded the Bronze Star and three battle stars. He also has three battle stars received in World War I.

At the time of the St. Lo break through Major Luckett was stationed in Normandy and previously was stationed in London and then in Paris.

Teen-Age Boys Turn to Crime

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Many unemployed teen-age boys, used to making big wartime salaries, are turning to crime, with the result that 40 per cent of the felonies in St. Louis are committed by 17 and 18 year old youths, Milton Metz, director of the public defender's bureau, said yesterday.

Cases involving this age group have jumped sharply in the last eight months, according to Metz, whose bureau is responsible for handling indigent first offenders charged with felonies. Eighty per cent are children of divorced, deceased or separated parents, he said.

Pounds of Gear Dumped in Sea

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 28 — (AP) — C. A. Burley, correspondent for the Sydney Sun, said today in a dispatch from Rabaul that Americans abandoning Pacific islands are "dumping into the sea or are burning millions of pounds worth of gear."

Burley said Australian officers passing through the Pacific area called the destruction "staggering in scope and thoroughness."

Burley said "the American argument is that if the stuff is shipped home it would merely mean shifting junk heaps from one place to another."

the knee, on June 5, 1916 while employed as a brakeman on the M.K.T. railroad. The accident occurred near Clinton. It was of such nature that Judge Smith believed he was fortunate not to have lost his life.

After becoming adjusted to the use of two wooden legs he took up the study of law in the Kansas City School of Law. He passed the bar examination, practiced for a time, and is now serving his third term as probate judge of Pettis county.

The judge has been interested in the Fraternity of the Wooden Leg for four years, knows many of the amputees who are members, and was elected to the presidency in St. Louis last month.

100 Agencies Into 13 Main Departments

Executive Branch
Of Government
Is Shaping up

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28 — (AP) — The executive branch of Missouri's 1945 model government shaped up today in the form of 13 principal departments agreed upon by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly and senate leaders.

To them the governor tentatively assigned all of the state's sprawling boards, bureaus and commissions, then gave the outline to the members of a senate planning committee as a guide for enactment of laws under the new constitution.

By allocating four agencies to the governor as conservator of the peace, Donnelly fitted approximately 100 agencies into 13 main departments, leaving a 14th open for possible later use.

In his own department, not classed as one of the 14 allowed by the new charter, Donnelly put the highway patrol, liquor control supervisor, adjutant general with his military forces, and the state service officer to aid veterans.

Head Own Departments

He followed the constitution in leaving the four elected state officials — secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general — to head their own departments, then grouped all other state agencies into these nine classifications.

Business and utilities (including the big public service commission; correction, for all the penal institutions; highways; labor (including the employment service now operated by Uncle Sam); public health and welfare; revenue, for all collecting agencies; education; agriculture and conservation.

Departing from the model of a pending senate bill, Donnelly put all professional examining boards in the department of education, leaving eleemosynary institutions, the social security commission and the state board of health in the health and welfare department.

Work Not Complete

He announced the assignments jointly with Sen. H. R. Williams (R) of Cassville, Republican floor leader, who said many of the ideas could be fitted into pending bills, although some would require the drafting of new legislation.

Left for future conferences was the hotly contested question of whether the principal departments should be headed by directors or commissions.

Briggs to Address Democratic Women

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Sen. Frank P. Briggs will address the annual two-day convention of the Missouri Federation of Democratic Women's clubs here Dec. 4-5. Mrs. R. Kirk Brady, chairman of the federation announced today.

Neither Robert Hannegan, chairman of the national Democratic committee nor R. R. Nacy, his executive assistant will attend as they originally planned, Mrs. Brady said.

Declare Hess not Insane

Arguments Will Be Heard Friday
On His Plea to Escape War Trial

By Daniel De Luce
NUERNBERG, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Franz Von Papen and Arthur Seyss-Inquart — two of the top Nazi leaders on trial before an international military tribunal — were described by American prosecutors today as leaders of the fifth column which paved the way for Hitler's invasion of Austria in 1938.

NUERNBERG, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Rudolf Hess, Hitler's one-time deputy, was described by psychiatrists today as "not insane at the present time in the strict sense of the word" and the international military tribunal announced that arguments would be heard Friday on the Nazi leader's plea to escape the war crimes trial on grounds of amnesia.

The British psychiatrists' report revealed that Hess had tried to commit suicide on several occasions since his sensational and mysterious flight to Scotland in May, 1941.

Declaring that Hess was not insane, the psychiatrists conceded that his loss of memory would "interfere with his ability to make his defense." Hess went on trial on war crime charges last week with 19 other top Nazi leaders but had paid scant attention to proceedings, reading a novel much of the time and giggling occasionally.

Is Hysterical

Hess, the medical board reported, is suffering from "hysteria" and "in addition, there is conscious exaggeration of his loss of memory and a tendency to exploit it to protect himself against examination." Three separate reports of examinations were filed, one by the British, one by the Russians and a third by American, French and Canadian doctors.

As today's session opened, the prosecution presented evidence from an American diplomat that the Nazis schemed from their earliest days of power to absorb Austria.

A Russian psychiatric report followed the other reports in describing Hess as hysterical, but flatly stated that his present behavior "does not exonerate him from his responsibility under the indictment."

Not Insane

The report declared that Hess "prior to his flight to England, did not suffer from any kind of insanity nor is he now suffering from it."

The Russian report stated that Hess tried to stab himself in the heart while under detention in England.

The American report declared that "we consider that the existing hysterical behavior which the defendant reveals was initiated as a defense against circumstances in which he found himself while in England; that it has now become partly habitual and that it will continue as long as he remains under threat of imminent punishment, even though it may interfere with his undertaking a more normal form of defense."

Refused Treatment

The British report recommended that "if the court decides to proceed with the trial, the question (of Hess' sanity) should afterwards be reviewed on psychiatric grounds." The report added that Hess' "loss of memory would not entirely interfere with his comprehension of the proceedings."

The Russian report state that Hess refused to undergo treatment for his amnesia and told a doctor on November 15 that he would "take all measures to cure his amnesia only upon completion of the trial."

William R. Brown Held in California

Extradition papers are being issued for William Roy Brown, charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Milton Heinlein, stolen several weeks ago and found at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. Brown is being held by police at Stockton, Calif.

Sheriff E. W. Goetz, today, asked the county court for the papers and will go to Jefferson City, Thursday for action by Governor Phil M. Donnelly.

He will leave Sunday morning in company with Chief of Police Anson Finnell, for Stockton, to return Brown to Missouri.

D. S. Lamm is Lions Club Speaker Today

Tells How Sedalia
Will be Affected
By Constitution

The Sedalia Lions club at its noon-day meeting today, had as speaker D. S. Lamm, city counselor, who spoke on the "Benefits and Privileges of Sedalia Under the New Constitution." The meeting was held at the Bothwell hotel with Adolph Glenn, president, presiding.

Mr. Lamm explained numerous changes in the constitution which will affect Sedalia. He mentioned the fact Sedalia can, if the people so desire, adopt its own charter and change its form of government. He also referred to what the constitution empowers a city to do.

He explained the limit of debt of a city of the third class, which Sedalia is, according to the old constitution and the increase of the limit of debt under the new constitution. Limit on taxation at present is 65 cents and under the new law the city can increase its taxes to one dollar on the $100 assessed valuation.

Bonded Indebtedness

Bonded indebtedness of the city can be increased from the present 5 per cent to 20 per cent of the assessed valuation, if two-thirds of the eligible voters so desire to vote. He also spoke on what the new law means to Sedalia as to recreational center, museums and other government buildings and properties.

He concluded by answering various questions on the Constitution, asked by the Lion members.

Guests at the meeting were C. G. Gentry with Dr. F. I. Lawrence, Aubrey Owen with Cleo Cecil, and Mr. Lamm with N. U. Mueller, program chairman.

U. S. Engineers Will Aid Chinese

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — American engineers will aid China in work out plans to control the ravaging Yangtze river.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes announced today the signing of a contract between the bureau of reclamation and the national resources commission of China. It calls for bureau engineers to prepare the designs and specifications for what may be the largest concrete dam ever built.

The Chinese government will pay an estimated $500,000 to the bureau for its technical assistance.

Piano Lifted

BOSTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Some thieves using a block and tackle stole a grand piano from the third floor of Michale Kosteki's lodging house, he reported to police. Shortly afterward they found it in a second hand shop where it had been sold for $10.

Charged With Embezzlement

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Daniel L. McDermott and Louis R. Darnen, former employees of the St. Louis office of the state motor vehicle registration department, have been ordered held for trial on embezzlement charges by Judge David W. Fitzgibbon of the court of criminal correction.

Charges OPA Violations

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Phil Ziegenfuss, St. Louis administrator of rationing and price control, said last night that about 30 per cent of the restaurants here are violating OPA rules.

He said a spot check now being conducted showed most infractions were on price ceilings, adding that preliminary reports indicate a higher percentage of violations than at any previous time.

Truman Visits An Hour With Envoy to China

General Marshall Will Leave for Chungking Soon

By Graham Hovey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall received an initial fill-in today on what President Truman expects of him as special White House ambassador to China. Afterward, a presidential aide said the general would leave for Chungking "as soon as possible."

The retired army chief of staff, called to take over the post which Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley spectacularly resigned yesterday, spent an hour in the president's study during the morning and arranged to return for a further conference during the afternoon. General Marshall came and went by a side door, avoiding newsmen.

Following his morning call, however, White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters:

"General Marshall will go to China just as soon as possible, but a date has not been fixed."

Marshall drove over from his home at Leesburg, Va., to talk over his new job with the president and with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, preparatory to stepping into the world's No. 1 postwar trouble spot in China.

Hurley Charges

Hurley, in stepping out of his Chungking assignment, made charges that some "professional" diplomats in the U. S. foreign service had nullified announced American policy in the Far East. Byrnes told a news conference today that Hurley had complained to him about the reports of only two American diplomats while Hurley was ambassador to China.

Byrnes named these two men as George Acheson, Jr., now adviser to Gen. Douglas MacArthur at Tokyo, and John S. Service, now an assistant to Acheson in Japan. Byrnes said Hurley had told him that while Acheson was in charge of the embassy at Chungking during one of Hurley's absences, he had made a report to which Hurley objected.

Service also had held views differed with Hurley's Byrnes said. These differences between the two diplomats, (who were subsequently removed from Chungking) and Ambassador Hurley will be investigated the secretary declared.

Marshall May Be Witness

Pearl Harbor
Inquiry Group
Want to Hear Him
Tell His Story

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — (AP) — A move developed in the congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee today to call Gen. George C. Marshall as a witness before he goes to China as President Truman's special envoy.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) told reporters he thought "the committee would expect to hear him before he leaves." Senator George (D-Ga) assumed Marshall would be leaving soon and thought it was important to call the former army chief of staff "right away."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) commented that he would be "inclined to insist upon hearing him before he leaves."

An army board which investigated the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, took especial note of the way a final warning message from Marshall to General Walter C. Short, army commander, in Hawaii, was handled.

The board said that while Marshall telephoned an alert to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, he sent a similar message to Short by commercial cables. It was not delivered until three hours after the attack.

Hull Excused

Former Secretary of State Hull was excused from testifying today because of cold, rainy weather. As the hearing resumed, Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, returned to the witness chair.

Rep. Murphy (D-Pa) said today he plans to ask Cordell Hull specifically whether the former secretary of state received information from any source Dec. 6, 1941, that the Japanese were planning the Pearl Harbor attack. Murphy, a member of the senate-house committee investigating the attack, told a reporter:

"After all, that's what we are trying to find out — if anybody in Washington had any inkling beforehand of the Japanese plans. Nobody yet has asked the question of Hull."

After an hour's appearance — all that the condition of his voice will permit — Mr. Hull will give way to Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan and former undersecretary of state.

Murphy, whose turn it was to question Hull next, said he would ask only the single question. The former secretary testified yesterday he was told of the actual attack in a telephone message from the late President Roosevelt only a few minutes before he was to meet the Japanese "peace" envoys at 1 p. m. Washington time, Dec. 7, 1941.

At that time, Hull said, the president had only an unverified report the attack had been made.

When Murphy is through Senator Brewster (R-Me) said he wants to ask Hull what he knows about a previous statement of Adm. J. O. Richardson, then commander in chief of the fleet, that Mr. Roosevelt told Richardson at a White House luncheon in October, 1940, that the United States might not fight if Japan attacked the Philippines.

Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt and now serving President Truman in the same capacity, told the committee he had no recollection of any such statement at the luncheon, which Leahy also attended.

Brewster said he also wants to know what caused Hull to phone the president at Warm Springs, Dec. 1, 1941, and urge Mr. Roosevelt's immediate return to Washington.

Brothers Present
During Holdup

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 28—(AP)—David Eugene Donohoe, husky 17-year-old merchant seaman, has identified his brother, Russell Donohoe, 21, as being present with him the night of November 21 during the 4-man holdup of a Brooklyn tavern which resulted in the slaying of prize fighter Al (Bummy) Davis, Maurice Rosenthal, Kings county, New York, assistant district attorney said Tuesday night.

Rosenthal and Louis Wirtz, Brooklyn detective, flew to Kansas City to conduct the questioning of David Donohoe, who—in a written statement last night—admitted his presence during the holdup and shooting, naming as his companions Jimmy Giaraffa, Johnny Ramano and a third man known only to him, he said, by the name of "Joe."

The mysterious "Joe" actually was his brother, Russell, Donohoe admitted in a statement made to him, Rosenthal said.

Officials at the General hospital here, where David Donohoe was taken following his arrest at his Kansas City home, said the young seaman probably would undergo an operation tomorrow for removal of a bullet which has caused partial paralysis from the waist down. He suffered two bullet wounds in the holdup melee, and his condition is listed as dangerous.

Sees 'Quick Death' To War Pictures

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 28—(P)— A "quick death" for war pictures
"because servicemen don't like them" was predicted Tuesday by Tom Edwards, of Eldon, Mo., president of the Kansas-Missouri theater association, speaking at an opening session of the group's two day meeting here.
"When servicemen come to see them, it is to scoff at the inaccuracies of Hollywood civilians who presume to make pictures about the war," Edwards claimed.
H. F. Strong, operator of the Plaza and Lyric theaters at Abilene, Kas., and vice-president of the association, was another speaker today. Business sessions tomorrow followed by a dinner will end the two-day meeting.

Tacke said they told him they obtained $300 in cash at a sandwich shop burglarly in Clinton, Mo., and had burglarized seven places in Memphis, Tenn.

Gates was serving three years for burglary and Collins three years for robbery when they es-was amazed at the results when he took this medicine. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating, and bowels are regular for the first time in years. He feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great

LIGHTING IDEAS for Your POSTWAR HOME

WHAT'S NEW
IN LIGHTING? That's the question everyone has been asking as we approach the postwar period we are all looking forward to. The answer is, that lighting research has prepared an entire new world of indoor sunshine for our use after the war. For example, the use of fluorescent lighting in homes will give the family cool, soft, abundant light they have never enjoyed before. And there will be many clever lighting ideas for the postwar home owner.

For example, lighted house numbers will be common instead of rare, and you know what a convenience that is on a dark night.

A whole row of people could sit on this davenport and read in absolute comfort, thanks to the new fluorescent lighting fixture on the wall above.

The postwar kitchen will be a marvel of modern lighting with fluorescent fixtures on the ceiling and over working surfaces.
It will be almost like doing your housework outdoors.

You will enjoy your daily sunbath right in your own bathtub if you choose, or lying at ease on bed or couch—thanks to the postwar sunlamps.

★ Lighting research is "moving the sun" indoors, bringing us the benefits of outdoor daylight, for healthier, brighter living.
Conserve on light today. Plan for a brighter home tomorrow.

'Incompetent,' Says Churchill

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(P)—Winston Churchill protested what he called the "incompetence and feebleness" of the British Labor government today and pledged his Conservative opposition to a fight for speedy demobilization and reconversion in the American pattern.

Decrying "the plight into which our country has fallen," the former prime minister told the Conservative party's central council: "We are being harassed, harried, tied down and stifled for vaguely and physically unattainable plans for a Socialist future. The mighty evolution of the United States from war to peace is proceeding in a violent and passionate manner, which already has led to an enormous increase of output of all necessary things for the home market and an over-spill for foreign export."

Home is said to be the safest place, but statistics show that about one-third of all accidental deaths occur there.

Wife in America Owes Much to Husband's Understanding

By Hal Boyle

SHANGHAI —(P)—Somewhere in America there is a wife who never will know how much she owes to her husband's commanding officer.

This is a true story, so far as anonymity let us say that her husband was a sergeant—which he was not.

The story goes back almost to the beginning of the late war. The sergeant had a lower rank then. He had been married only a short time, and was a sad and sorry guy when his ship steamed out of the Golden Gate more than three years ago.

There followed three years of change and chance, three years of life among strange people and strange ways.

At last the sergeant was eligible for discharge on points, but as he waited through the last days of his release he showed none of the jubilation of other soldiers of his outfit who also were to meet through with drill and khaki.

Befuddled

"I guess I've got putty in my head instead of brains," he told a tent-mate, "but I don't know where I want to go."

The friend pointed to the picture of a beautiful dark-haired girl on a packing case that served as a table beside the sergeant's cot and replied, "You must have putty in your head if you don't want to go home to a wife like that."

"That's the trouble," said the sergeant. "She's not my wife."

Holding his head in his hands, he explained:

"I met her in Australia. It didn't happen all at once. You know how the Australians treated us when we first went there. Nothing too good for us, nothing they wouldn't do for us."

"I met her at a dance and took her home. She introduced me to her parents. I was pretty lonesome, and I guess they were too, for they had a boy in the Middle East. They took me into the family and before I knew it, the girl and I were liking each other better than we had a right to do."

It Just Happened

"I don't know just how it happened. I used to tell them all about my wife in the states and I never thought anybody could take her place, but I guess I was in Australia too long."

"I thought it would be all over when we left there, but it was worse. When I got to New Guinea I worried myself sick, thinking about what I ought to do. I was in love with both girls."

"I lost weight and wound up in a hospital. They sent me back

Yamashita As Witness

MANILA, Nov. 28.—(P)—Bluff, bullet-headed Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita described himself today as a subordinate commander having somewhat of a bystander role in the defense of the Philippines and hence not accountable for the long list of Japanese atrocities detailed in the prosecution in his war crimes trial.

Testifying in his own defense before the U. S. military tribunal, Yamashita declared he always was under orders of Field Marshal Count Hsaiichi Terauchi, supreme Japanese commander for the southwest Pacific, and never had control of the air force, marine transportation corps, naval men and 30,000 other Japanese troops in the Philippines.

Asked whether he ordered or knew of atrocities, Yamashita gestured with his large, muscular hands and replied through his interpreter, "No, absolutely not."

Further, Yamashita insisted, he had determined that Manila was indefensible and had ordered his troops out last December.

Yamashita contended it was Japanese navy troops that remained there, although he didn't know of it at the time, and that he himself never at any time even had his headquarters in the city.

LIBERTY, Mo., Nov. 28.—(P)—For the first time in its 96 years, William Jewell college yesterday held a mid-year graduation exercise for one senior, the first World War II veteran to receive a diploma.

Giles Sheldon, Eldon, Mo., who entered the college in March, 1944, after army service, received the Bachelor of Arts degree.

Divorce Petition Filed

A divorce petition was filed in circuit court this afternoon by Glenn E. Doyle against Flossie E. Doyle. The couple was married August 24, 1932 and separated in August of this year. General indignities were alleged.

The plaintiff seeks custody of their three minor children. Lamm and Barnett are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Personals

John and Pat Coffey, of Okarache, Okla., were guests of Miss Agnes Curran, 222 South Grand avenue, Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Kelley, 1921 East Fifteenth street, has returned home from St. Louis, where she was present at the wedding of her son, John W. Kelley and Miss Evelyn Jewett, both of St. Louis. Mrs. Kelley also attended the mum show at Shaw's Garden and visited the jewel box.

Mrs. A. E. Owens, of St. Louis, will return home this evening after a visit of several days with her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Dowling, and family, 2301 South Grand avenue.

Jess M. Green, fireman first-class U. S. navy, left this morning for New Orleans, La., where he will report back to duty aboard the USS Mero, a submarine. He has been visiting his wife at their home, 216 East Sixth street and other relatives and friends in Sedalia since Thanksgiving day.

William F. Brown, Sedalia lawyer who recently returned from India, where he was in the service, will leave Thursday for Kansas City and after spending a day there will go to Los Angeles, Calif., to visit a couple of weeks with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Q. A. Morgan, route 4, Sedalia, have returned from a plane trip to the west. They went first to Phoenix, Ariz., where they visited Mrs. Morgan's sister, Mrs. W. E. Miller and family. They also visited in Tucson, Ariz., then went to Los Angeles, Calif., where they were with Mrs. Morgan's aunt, Mrs. Nellie Hedrick, who is a sister of Mrs. Morgan's mother, Mrs. M. W. Sterling, 820 South Osage avenue.

Mrs. Hedrick is also a sister of Mrs. L. N. Yunker, 317 West Fourth street and Mrs. H. W. Stark, 200 South Quincy avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan also visited Mrs. Yunker's daughter, Mrs. Charles Ledger in Hollywood and were joined in California by their daughter, Miss Lorraine Morgan, who remained in the west for a longer visit. Miss Morgan is a TWA hostess and is on a two months' leave of absence. Upon the return trip Mr. Morgan stopped in Oklahoma City and arrived home Tuesday night.

Mrs. Morgan arrived a few days ago coming straight to Sedalia. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were gone a month.

Missourians Do Not Agree

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(P)—A house floor battle between two Missourians is in prospect when amendments are offered to re-instate in the deficiency appropriation bill funds for a list of flood control projects.

Rep. Zimmerman (D-Mo.), a former member of the house flood control committee, told a reporter he will make a fight to put back into the measure the Osceola dam and reservoir, Clearwater dam and reservoir and other projects affecting Missouri which were eliminated by the house appropriations committee.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mo.), who appeared before the deficiency appropriations subcommittee with a request that Osceola not be built, promptly told Zimmerman he would take the floor in opposition if Zimmerman included the Osceola project.

Stag Dinner Thursday

The regular stag dinner will be served at the Country Club Thursday evening, at 7:00 o'clock. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Palmer, at the club, before noon Thursday.

Married 55 Years Ago

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28.—(P)—The Missouri house of representatives celebrated Rep. and Mrs. Robert S. Walton of Armstrong, Mo., today on their 55th wedding anniversary, which they celebrated yesterday.

The Howard county Democrat grinned, got up and told his colleagues that he hadn't got very far from home in all that time.

"In fact," he said, "I can go out on my back porch and see the place where my great grandfather cut the brush and built a cabin back in 1818."

Nevertheless, he said, he hasn't done so badly. When he and Mrs. Walton were married a friend told his prospective father-in-law he ought to stop the wedding because that "harum-scarum kid" starve your daughter to death.

"Mrs. Walton weighs two pounds more than I do now," Walton told the house.

He bought the Armstrong Herald, a weekly newspaper, a few months after he became a married man. He still has the same newspaper and the same wife.

Pallbearers were Ralph Grimes, Ed Carey, Sam O'Neal, William O'Leary, Ivan Grimes and Herbert Maddox.

Mrs. J. W. Stephens and Mrs. Eugene Holman sang "The Old Rugged Cross," "Saved by Grace"

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT
And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers
Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.
In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.
What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.
Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.
Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25c. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Twenty-five Cases Of Tularemia In State
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 28—(P)—Twenty-five cases of tularemia, a disease caused by infected wild rabbits, have been reported thus far this year in the state of Missouri, Dr. R. M. James, director of the state department of health said Tuesday.
Last year for the same period, there were 19 cases which resulted in nine fatalities.
Human beings get the disease generally while engaged in skinning an infected rabbit and Dr. James advised wearing rubber gloves and washing one's hands frequently to avoid the contagion.
A thorough cooking destroys the tularemia infection, he added.

Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—The clearest call for congressional action on reconversion was voiced last week in a little-noticed speech by the ex-Minneapolis street sweeper, Representative William J. Gallagher. Without any hesitation, he pinned responsibility for the congressional sit-down strike right where it belongs—on the leadership of important house committees.

Gallagher, a member of four committees (Census, Indian Affairs, Mines and Mining, and Pensions), pointed out that only the Indian affairs committee has been at all active.

"I might just as well not be on a committee at all," he remarked. The bent, white-haired former supporter of Henry George called for an end to the long delay in stalling off the St. Lawrence seaway project. He called for action on the full employment bill, the 65-cent minimum wage bill, and other important measures bound up with reconversion.

Reason for the long delays in committees, he said, is that "leaders on both sides of the house do not trust the members. If they are not in complete agreement on the objective of these measures, at least they should permit them to come before the house for a vote."

"Why should we sit here day after day doing nothing but talk, talk, criticize and fight battles that are past, in place of having our eyes to the future for the benefit of our country and for the benefit of the soldier boys? . . . I want action and sane thinking."

It was one of the sanest speeches congress has heard in weeks. Note — As long as reactionary southern congressmen are chairmen of committees they can bottle up legislation and prevent its coming to a vote.

Spell the Name Right
No. 1 rule of all good advertising men is to remember names—particularly the names of clients. All successful government executives understand the same rule—especially when it comes to their clients—the members of congress who vote them money.

That's why irascible old Senator Kenneth McKellar, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, couldn't understand the lapses of assistant secretary of state William Benton when he appeared before McKellar's committee. Benton, founder with OPA's Chester Bowles of one of the nation's top advertising agencies, was testifying in secret session, trying to get more appropriations for the state department. But Benton couldn't remember McKellar's name. Other senators chuckled behind their hands at the Tennesseean's annoyance, but Benton kept addressing the venerable chairman as "Senator Keller."

Finally, McKellar could stand it no longer. Grabbing a pencil and a scratch pad, he interrupted Benton to point out, "Mr. Benton, that's the fifth time, you've done that. My name is McKellar—here, let me write it out for you."

Then, in labored hand, McKellar spelled out his name on the paper and handed it to Benton. The ex-advertising executive flushed and kept the reminder before him during the rest of his testimony.

Report On the War

Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War

THE FINAL PHASES

DURING the withdrawal of troops for ANVIL, one American division, the 91st, had arrived to reinforce the Fifth Army. On 15 September a combat team of the Brazilian Expeditionary Force moved into the Fifth Army line in the Valley of the Sorchio River. Before the end of autumn the entire Brazilian division was in the line. During this same period one of the Army's two Negro divisions, the 92d, which had reached Italy during the late summer and fall, was assigned to the IV Corps.

The advances had brought General Alexander's Allied armies up against the "Gothic Line," an elaborate transpeninsular defense system which the Germans had been preparing since early in the year. Despite the heavy diversion of troops to other theaters it was decided to launch another general offensive on 10 September for the purpose of breaking through the Apennines into the Po Valley. While the U. S. Fifth Army assaulted the Gothic Line frontally through the mountains, the British Eighth Army, now commanded by Lt. Gen. Sir R. L. McCreery attacked northwest from Rimini. This offensive involved our troops in some of the bitterest and most difficult fighting of the Italian campaign. The jagged Apennines and bad weather seemed almost insurmountable obstacles.

After three months of this costly but successful penetration of the Gothic Line, the Allied command prepared in December to drive on Bologna, but pressure against the western flank of the Fifth Army and diversion of Eighth Army units to meet the political crisis in Greece disrupted these plans. Meanwhile the Germans had time to refit and strengthen their forces and establish a new defensive position.

On 12 December 1944 Field Marshal Alexander replaced Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson as Supreme Commander in the Mediterranean area. General Wilson was promoted to Field Marshal and senior representative in Washington of the British Chiefs of Staff. Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark moved up to command the Allied deny reports that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers union will rejoin the American Federation of Labor. However, privately the deal already has been made.

Lewis will be returned to the fold at the next AFL executive council meeting in Miami, January 21. Furthermore, the tempestuous mine leader will be granted his No. 1 demand, a seat in the executive council for his 600,000 mine workers.

Details of the reunion were worked out in a series of secret confabs between Lewis and AFL moguls, including Pres. Green, Carpenters' boss "Big Bill" Hutcheson, and others, during the labor-management conference.

Biggest immediate barrier to be overcome was the lack of vacancies on the executive council. However, Green and his associates have now worked out a neat little plan to remedy this—the ouster of Harvey W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists.

Brown has been in hot water with AFL bigwigs for a long time armies in Italy and Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott assumed command of the Fifth Army.

Secret Reinforcements

In January the Fifth Army was reinforced by the 10th U. S. Mountain Division which gave a fine exhibition of battle efficiency on its initial employment. During the winter, three Italian combat groups entered the line of the Eighth Army. These small gains were more than offset by a February directive from the Combined Chiefs of Staff which ordered the transfer of five British and Canadian divisions to the European Theater. The directive was later amended to send three to France, one to the eastern Mediterranean, and retain one division in Italy for possible use in the impending final battle. This movement of more than 125,000 combat troops was accomplished in complete secrecy and gave Marshal Montgomery's Northern Army Group on the Rhine additional power to the surprise of the enemy.

During the fall and winter months, the Tactical and Strategic Air Forces pounded away at communications over the Alps and in Northern Italy. With opposing ground forces so nearly equal in strength, the Air Forces represented our margin of advantage and made the maintenance of German forces in Northern Italy most difficult while our own was unmolesied. In addition, Italy-based aircraft assisted the Yugoslav patriots. Closely coordinated with the attacks staged from Britain, the Strategic Air Forces struck heavy blows at oil and rail targets in Austria and southern Germany. In some of the bitterest and most difficult fighting of the Italian campaign, the jagged Apennines and bad weather seemed almost insurmountable obstacles.

After three months of this costly but successful penetration of the Gothic Line, the Allied command prepared in December to drive on Bologna, but pressure against the western flank of the Fifth Army and diversion of Eighth Army units to meet the political crisis in Greece disrupted these plans. Meanwhile the Germans had time to refit and strengthen their forces and establish a new defensive position.

On 9 April, General Clark's Fifteenth Army Group launched its spring drive, known as operation GRAPE SHOT. The Eighth Army led off with an attack across the Senio River west of Ravenna. In spite of unusually heavy air and artillery preparation, the offensive met stiff opposition from the German Tenth Army in approaching the Argenta Gap. Five days later, after the enemy had presumably had time to dispose himself to meet the Eighth Army attack, the II and IV Corps of the Fifth Army threw their weight into the offensive from positions because of non-payment of per capita taxes, growing out of a dispute between him and Hutcheson over unionization of millwrights. Only about 5,000 millwrights (they install machinery in industrial plants) are involved, but Brown and Hutcheson have been battling furiously as to which shall collect dues from them.

Brown has threatened several times to pull out of the AFL unless the issue is decided in his favor and has paid no per capita taxes for the last year to show that he means business.

Several months ago, Green told the machinists' boss flatly to "get the taxes on the line" or face suspension. Brown's answer to this ultimatum was that he would pay the back taxes only after the millwright dispute was settled by the AFL executive council — meaning, of course, settled in his favor.

There's no chance of this while the potent Hutcheson is sitting on the board. But even should Brown repent and kick in, he still will be given the gate at the January meeting under an AFL regulation providing for the suspension of any union which is three months in arrears in the payment of per capita assessments.

Brown's removal will be a double victory for Hutcheson. Not only is he getting rid of an enemy and thus making it possible to put the full might of the AFL behind his drive to organize the millwrights, but he is also getting a close crony, John L. Lewis, a seat at the AFL council table.

Note — John L. and Hutcheson are strange bedfellows. Once bitter foes, they slugged it out with their fists some years back at an AFL convention. Such is the fleeting character of union politics.

Russian Red Tape

Marshall McDuffie, deputy to overseas property liquidator Tom McCabe, has just returned from a trip through conquered Europe. Anxious to go from Warsaw to Prague early in October, he checked with U. S. military headquarters to see if an army plane was scheduled to cover this mountainous route. None was. He was also advised he would be wasting his time if he tried to hitch a ride from the Russians.

Next McDuffie checked at the American embassy, where he was told it would be useless to go to the Russians. Even if they were willing to help, he was told, Russian red tape would take him ten days to get started.

However, lunching with an American UNRRA worker, McDuffie revealed his predicament. Lunch was over at about 2:30. At 3 p. m. McDuffie received a call from Red army headquarters offering him a ride on a plane expected to go to Prague from Moscow the next morning.

The Moscow plane was delayed, however, so McDuffie was put on another Russian plane, with a in the Apennines south and south-west of Bologna.

Resistance Collapses Everywhere

After a week of heavy fighting our troops broke into the Po Valley and entered Bologna from the west and south. At the same time, Polish forces of the Eighth Army entered the city from the east. The Fifth Army columns beyond the city swept up the great highway leading to Piacenza—the ancient Via Emilia—and, by-passing Modena to the east, drove toward the Po south of Mantua. Pursuing the disorganized enemy to the river, bridgeheads were quickly established across the Po on 23 April. The Eighth Army met determined resistance in Ferrara, but by the 25th had crossed the Po in force. On the same day, our forces on the Ligurian coast captured La Spezia with its naval base. The German armies were virtually destroyed south of the Po, the bulk of their equipment being either destroyed or abandoned.

The final week of the war in Italy brought wide advances throughout northern Italy. Bridging many river that flow south from the Alps, the Eighth Army swept northeast along the Adriatic coastal plain, liberating Padua, Venice, and Treviso. While Fifth Army infantry and mountain troops drove into the foothills of the Alps along the Brenner route, other armored columns and motorized infantry raced up the valley of the Po and by 29 April had reached the great city of Milan.

On every side effective support was received from the Italian patriots. After seizing Genoa, our Ligurian forces drove beyond Savona to make contact with the French. Advance elements of the 442d Japanese-American regiment reached Turin. Resistance collapsed everywhere; more than 160,000 prisoners were taken by the Allied armies. By the first of May, Eighth Army troops advancing on Trieste had made contact with Yugoslav partisans at Monfalcone. On 2 May 1945 the commander of the German armies in Northern Italy found it impossible to continue the bloody struggle and capitulated.

The Italian triumph is a striking demonstration of the solidarity of the United Nations. Fighting under the Fifteenth Army Group, at some time during the Italian campaign, were Americans, British, Canadians, French, New Zealanders, South Africans, Poles, Indians, Brazilians, Italians, Greeks, Moroccans, Algerians, Arabs, Goums, Senegalese, and a brigade of Jewish soldiers.

(NEXT: Preparation for OVERLORD.)

crew composed of two Russians and three Poles. He was charged 265 rubles for the 400-mile journey over the mountains, and was permitted to pay in Polish zlotys. Thus, the total trip cost him 97 cents in American money.

From Prague, McDuffie drove to Bratislava and Vienna, thence to Frankfurt. With his Russian-Czech pass and an American flag on the car he had no trouble so long as he was in Russian-controlled territory — being stopped only twice for a reading of his pass.

Between Vienna and Frankfurt, however, McDuffie was stopped six times by American GIs and finally was arrested and fined by an American military policeman for speeding on an eight-lane autobahn, or highway. With no traffic in sight in either direction, his chauffeur had been traveling at 55 miles per hour.

Army vs. Navy The Big Game This Saturday

President Truman to Sit With Army One Half, Navy the Next
by Austin Bealmear
WEST POINT, N. J., Nov. 28—(AP)—It took a slight case of influenza to show how highly Army regards Arnold Tucker, the Arcades field general and chief passer.
Overlooked in the attention focused on the West Pointers' touchdown twins—Glenn Davis and "Doc" Blanchard—Tucker, key man of the Cadets polished T machine, was the cause of much anxiety yesterday when he was hospitalized with the flu.
For a while when his temperature soared to 102 it looked like the 21-year-old Miami, Fla. quarterback might miss the big game with the Navy in Philadelphia Saturday. But late in the afternoon the team physician, Capt. Robert W. Bayle, reported that Tucker's temperature had gone down and that the grid star would be released from the hospital by Thursday at the latest.
Tucker, a third stringer behind Doug Kenna and Tom Lombardo last year, has come along so fast this season that Coach Earl Blaik rates him above the graduated pair.
"The rest of the team can't operate if he doesn't operate," Blaik declared. "He is by far the best man under center we have had here. He has done a magnificent job. He passes well, he's a good runner, a good tackler and a good blocker."
With Davis sweeping the ends and Blanchard blasting through the middle, Army hasn't had to do much passing this season. However, the records show that the Cadets' air arm isn't to be sneezed at. Tucker has done most of the

By Bus Ham
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28—(AP)—
One position at which navy figures it holds a decided advantage over army is at end, and therein lies Navy's chances of penning up swift Glenn Davis.
Dick Duden, six feet tall, 203 pounds, 20 years old, and Leon Bramlett, six feet one, 195, and 21 years old, will shoulder the responsibility of halting Davis in Saturday's service spectacle in Philadelphia.
Nobody this season has been able to prevent Davis from sweeping wide on touchdown runs, as Army applied its one-two punch, Davis in the open and "Doc" Blanchard down the middle.
But Navy supporters contend that Davis never has run up against wingmen of the caliber of Duden and Bramlett.
Both have been mentioned repeatedly for All-America and Navy coaches consider them the "finest pair" of ends in the country.
Some notes on Saturday's game:
The service classic, shaping up as one of the greatest gridiron spectacles of all time, would be witnessed by a million fans if officials could only find some place to put them. . . Army Athletic Manager Biff Jones has turned down more applicants than he can count but he estimates—"conservatively," he says—that he could have sold ten times as many tickets as actually were available.
As it is, around 102,999 fortunate fans who have paid an aggregate of something like $440,- 000 for the coveted pasteboards will be in Philadelphia's big municipal stadium Saturday to see an army team that has stretched a 17-game winning streak over two seasons battle unbeaten but once-tied Navy for the unofficial but undisputed collegiate championship of the land.
President Truman definitely will be on hand for the game, but no one here knows for sure yet whether General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral Chester W.
Nimitz, the new Army and Navy chiefs, will be able to attend. . .
The president will sit on the army side during the first half with War
Secretary Patterson and Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, superintendent of the military academy, and on the Navy side in the second half with Navy Secretary Forrestal and Vice-Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, superintendent of the naval academy.
Two thousand sheep and 400 cattle were killed by huge hailstones in one section of the Transvaal, South Africa.

Holbrook And O'Connor Win Tuesday Night

Baxter Disqualified
By Referee Parker
And Esteppe Wins
The bobby soxers were made happy, Vic Holbrook their idol got a broken nose, and the fans in general were treated to one of the most thrilling wrestling shows of the season Tuesday night. The Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion auxiliary police were kept busy after the team match had been "officially" concluded when the winners Holbrook and Dan O'Connor, the winners were imposed upon by the losers Ray Graham and "Rube" Wright the losers to do a little more action after the "fight" winners had been announced.
On top of it all one wrestling customer had to be led away from the armory by the police and was told "never to return" because it was the third time he has attended and had to be quieted down.
The fan let his nerves get the best of him and he desired to whip the wrestlers.
Graham and Wright took the first fall after whipping Holbrook and O'Connor around. Graham body smothered him and the fall was won in 13 minutes and 30 seconds.
Holbrook-O'Connor did leave the ring and when the second fall time started they turned tactics and used their opponents methods and O'Connor had the full Nelson or Wright and Holbrook did the slugging, and the body smother ended the fall in 7 minutes and 35 seconds. The third fall was another rough house scrap between the four wrestlers, with Holbrook leading Graham to the corner and O'Connor putting in a haymaker followed by Holbrook applying the abdominal stretch to win the fall in 7 minutes and 30 seconds.
The crowd went wild—and were pleased—but urged Holbrook and O'Connor on, when Wright and Graham started fighting again.
Matchmaker Gus Karras had to go to the ringside and encourage Holbrook and O'Connor to leave.
In the opener Marshall Esteppe of Sturgeon filled in for "Hill Billy" Esteppe, much to the satisfaction of the fans. Esteppe beat Laverne Baxter of Columbus, Ohio, after Jimmy Parker, referee, had disqualified Baxter in the

Sheriff Tells Story of his Kidnaping

Stood Helplessly
By While Companion
Committed Crimes

GREENFIELD, Mo., Nov. 27—(AP)—Dade county sheriff Hugh Wilkerson was back home with his family tonight — unharmed, but red-faced and $60 poorer.

The sheriff, a kidnap victim for 12-hours of gun-toting John Harvey (Cowboy) Bugg, former Springfield cab driver, was released last night near Kellyville, Okla., after a 200-mile jaunt through two states.

Relating his experiences as an unwilling victim of the ex-cabbie, Sheriff Wilkerson said tonight he suffered the additional indignity of having to stand helplessly by while his captor added armed robbery, motor car theft, theft of license plates and interstate transportation of a stolen car to his kidnaping offense.

Drew a Gun

According to Wilkerson the venture started when he arrested Bugg at Greenfield, Mo., at the request of Oklahoma authorities who said he was wanted on a bad check charge. Suddenly, Wilkerson said, Bugg drew a gun, took the sheriff's gun out of his hip pocket and forced him into the backseat of a nearby car. A youth sitting in the car was ordered out at pistol point, and Bugg, taking the wheel, drove to Carthage, Mo., about 40 miles away.

At Carthage, the sheriff related, Bugg went to the home of an aunt and called a taxi. A short distance southeast of Carthage Bugg halted the driver of the taxi, robbed him of $40, tied him to a tree and stole his cab. During the robbery, Wilkerson said, he tried to signal the driver, Walter Cozad, but could not make himself understood.

Changed License Plates

"We took out down 66 to Tulsa," continued the sheriff, "and in Tulsa Bugg took some California license plates off a car and put them on the cab."

Bugg waited for darkness then drove "somewhere west of Tulsa," and ordered Wilkerson from the car. The sheriff said his captor tied him to a telephone pole and robbed him of $65, but refused a five-dollar bill with the assurance that, "This will get you home."

After Bugg drove away the officer said he was able to reach a knife in his pocket and cut the bonds. Then, he said, he went to a nearby filling station and called authorities and his family.
